Dear Curt

I am sending these lines to thank you for our latest meeting. If I didn't succeed in expressing it on that occasion, I would through these lines like to tell you that I was uncommonly happy that you took the trouble of coming down to see me.

As concerns me, our conversation cleared away any doubts that the events of late might have raised in my soul. Hopefully, the contact established with my successor gave you firm enough ground under your feet, for me to leave you to each other with peace of mind.

I will, however, keep looking in my incoming mailbox for signs of life from you.

With the most friendly regards
Yours affectionately
Poul H
